"Force Majeure" means the occurrence of an event or circumstance that prevents or impedes a Party from performing one or more of its contractual obligations under the contract, if and to the extent that that Party proves: (a) that such impediment is beyond its reasonable control; and (b) that it could not reasonably have been prevented or overcome by the Party. The event or circumstance that the effects of the impediment could not reasonably have been avoided or overcome by the affected Party.

In the absence of proof to the contrary, the following events affecting a Party shall be presumed to fulfill conditions (a) and (b) under paragraph 1 of this Clause: (i) war (whether declared or not), hostilities, invasion, act of foreign enemies, extensive military mobilization; (ii) civil war, riot, rebellion and related disturbances; (iii) epidemic, pandemic, natural disaster or extreme natural event; (iv) piracy; (v) currency and trade restriction, embargo, sanction; (vi) act of authority whether lawful or unlawful, compliance with any law or governmental order, expropriation, seizure of works, equipment, nationalization; (vii) plague, epidemic, natural disaster or extreme natural event; (viii) explosion, fire, destruction of equipment, prolonged breakdown of transport, telecommunication, information system or energy; (ix) general labor disturbance such as boycott, strike and lock-out; or slow-down, occupation of factories and premises.

If notice thereof is not given without delay, the relief is effective from the time at which notice thereof reaches the other Party. Where the effect of the impediment or its consequences is temporary, the above conditions shall apply only as long as the impediment involved impedes performance by the affected Party. Where the duration of the impediment involved has the effect of substantially depriving the contracting Parties of what they were reasonably entitled to expect under the contract, either Party has the right to terminate the contract by notification within a reasonable period to the other Party. Unless otherwise agreed, the Parties expressly agree that the contract may be terminated by either Party if the duration of the impediment exceeds 120 days.

18. Hardship

The Parties are bound to perform their contractual duties even if events have rendered performance more onerous than could reasonably have been anticipated at the time of the conclusion of the contract.

Notwithstanding paragraph 1 of this Clause, where a Party proves that:

- (a) the continued performance of its contractual duties has become excessively onerous due to an event beyond its reasonable control which it could not reasonably have been expected to have taken into account at the time of the conclusion of the contract; and
(b) it could not reasonably have avoided or overcome the event or its consequences, the Parties are bound, within a reasonable time of the invocation of this Clause, to negotiate alternative contractual terms which reasonably allow to overcome the consequences of the event.
Where Clause 18.2 applies, but where the Parties have been unable to agree to alternative contractual terms as provided in that paragraph, the Party invoking this Clause is entitled to terminate the contract, but cannot request adaptation by the judge or arbitrator without the agreement of the other Party.
